

Miss Hulda Edman, Executive Secretary of the Michigan State Nurses Association will speak tonight at 8 P. M. at a special meeting of the Grayling Nurses Association at the Nurses Home.

All graduate nurses in the district are invited to attend, whether members of the district organization or not.

Wake up, mister, it's time to get up. The hour is 3:30 A. M. First get the sand out of your eyes and start a quick fire under the boiler. The boiler generates steam, and steam pasteurizes milk so it will be safe for public use.

Next, plug in two milking machines. Into your spick and span white parlor—and such is its name—come 40 placid, temperamental cows, four at a time, for their regular morning "giving" of milk. You don't milk the cows; the cows milk down their milk. If a stranger enters the parlor, the cows won't enter. Feminine temperament, they say.

At the rate of about 20 cows an hour, you're through the first of milking bees during your work day. And then, of course, down in for good measure to keep you awake, are such miscellaneous chores as getting feed to the managers in the pen or loading barn, feeding down the barn for the herd, feeding the heifers and a couple of hundred chickens, and other odds and ends until it's milking time again at 4 P. M.

Such is the daily routine of Earl Reuhs, husky and energetic, one of the men employed by Ernest W. Reuhs who own and operates the Rosemont dairy farm at Caledonia. Caledonia is 17 miles southeast of Grand Rapids in Kent County.

Mr. Reuhs, one of Michigan's outstanding dairy farmers, is president of the Michigan Guernsey Breeders' Association. He began farming in 1918, nearly 30 years ago. He started the Rosemont dairy farm in 1921, added a second farm in 1927 and a third in 1946, making 360 acres in all. He sells his own bottled milk from a store in Grand Rapids.

All this we learned a few days ago when we pulled our 19-foot house trailer into the farm yard adjoining the Rosemont Farm. We spent part of a day and two nights there. We learned much about life on a Michigan dairy farm and some of its problems.

Michigan's dairy industry—grossing about $100 million last year. That is aside from the investment of cows and buildings and land. More so than the average Mid-West state, Michigan has made rapid gains in dairying. Rosemont at Caledonia is a symbol of this growth.

"The cows keep us. We don't keep the cows," said Mr. Reuhs, whose German name is pronounced "Rees." "There's nothing very fancy here at Rosemont. We do produce high quality milk on an economical basis. Our pen keeps the cows to run loose. Feed to the managers comes from gravity from the barn loft. And so does the bedding, tons and tons of it."

"This straw becomes valuable fertilizer. A manure loader spreads it upon the fields where it helps to maintain soil fertility and to produce better yields of crops. See that tall corn over there? The result of lots of manure. The cows help the soil to produce more. As I said, the cows keep us. We don't keep them."

When you take a glass of pasteurized milk in your hand, think of Earl Parks. Getting up at 3:30 A. M. is no picnic, especially in cold winter mornings.

It reminds us of the story they tell about the Danish farmer who told a visitor that he drank 18 to 20 cups of coffee each day. "Good heavens, man!" exclaimed the visitor. "Doesn't that much coffee keep you awake?" The farmer nodded in agreement and replied: "Yes, it helps."

If every Michigan dairy farmer drank 18 to 20 cups of coffee a day, it wouldn't surprise us one bit. They put in long hours at work. They invest hard-earned dollars in livestock and buildings. They earn the relative small sum which we, the consumer, pay for a quart of milk—nature's perfect food.

Kessler Named Chamber Head

Jerome Kessler, member of the Grayling Postoffice staff and former secretary-treasurer of the Grayling Chamber of Commerce for several terms, was named Chamber president at a meeting of the new directors Friday night at the Court House immediately following the final meeting of the directorship for last year.

Fred Welsh, Jr., was re-elected vice-president and George Quinn was named secretary-treasurer. The election of the officers of the Grayling Chamber of Commerce was handled by temporary chairman Wesley Kumpula, who now is immediate past president, after the adjournment of the final meeting of his term.

The new officers and Board of Directors discussed plans for the coming year and ideas for improvements on standing chamber projects and discussed the possibilities of adding one or more other affairs.

The new Board of Directors includes besides the above named officers, John H. Peterson, Charles Piper, Herbert McDonnell, William Tufts, William Joseph and Robert Strong. A motion was passed at the meeting to submit to a vote of the Chamber membership an amendment to the bylaws which would increase the membership of the board from 8 to 10. If the amendment gains the necessary two-thirds majority, the two new members to the board will be Ralph Morse and Thomas Stancil who finished in the ninth and tenth positions in the annual election just held.

Crawford County Library

For some time the library staff has been engaged in the process of preparing a card index of the entire library. The shelf list is now complete and the cross index well under way. When completed, this index will be of great assistance to library patrons in locating the particular volume desired.

In addition to the regular book club subscriptions, the library has purchased 130 new books, about a hundred of which are now on the shelves. Among the most interesting of the new literature is the "Look at America" series by the editors of Look. The master volume of the series is one of the finest collection of photographs of the United States ever made. The eight regional volumes, made up of photographs of the same high quality, give a more complete picture of smaller sections of the country, graphically presenting the well known and the unfamiliar, the legendary, and the quaint, in the various regions.

The master volume and "New England," "The Southwest," "The Central Northwest," and "The South" are now available. "The Central Northwest," "The Midwest," "The Far West," and "New York City" are still in preparation, and will be received later.

A new club subscription "The Junior Literary Guild," brings twelve books annually for 12-16 age group. Junior Guild selections now available are "Lightning Strikes Twice," by Marguerite Dickson, and Betty Cavanaugh's "Spurs for Susanna," for girls, and "The Great Heritage," by Katherine B. Shippen. "Hank Winton, Smokechaser" by Montgomery M. Atwater, and "The Modern Wonder Book of Ships," Carlisle and Nelson, for the boys.

Mills, will be in charge of all of these services. Come and hear him. All welcome.

Rev. Davis, pastor.

County Supervisors In One Day Session

The Crawford County Board of Supervisors met last Monday morning for their regular October session but adjourned for one week at the end of the day because of Circuit Court opening in the Building on Tuesday.

The Budget and the Apportionment Committees began their work and a one week's extension of dental work at the county schools was approved by the Board at the request of the State Board of Health. County directors Emil Giegling and Robert Strong appeared on behalf of the EMTA who had also written a letter to the board concerning yearly budget and plans for the coming year.

Pleads Guilty To Arson

Jesse Cook, 46, of Grand Rapids pleaded guilty to arson as charged when he faced Circuit Judge John Shaffer in Circuit Court here Monday.

Judge Shaffer requested an investigation by the probation officer before passing sentence.

Cook entered a guilty plea in Justice Court before Justice Emil Giegling on September 9 and bond was set at $2,500 which was not furnished. He has remained in the custody of the Sheriff's Department since. Cook at the time of his examination in Justice Court gave the authorities a signed statement in which he admitted setting fire to the Otis Cook residence on Park Street following a personal quarrel with Mrs. Cook of that address. She is no relation to the confessed arsonist.

Eldon C. Smith of Maple Forest who faced the court on a statutory rape charge heard Judge Shaffer grant a motion to return his case to Justice Court. The motion was made by his attorney Stanley Beriman who said Smith did not have counsel in his examination in the lower court. His re-examination will probably be held late in November. Prosecuting Attorney Robert F. Neale said.

Smith stood mute before Judge Shaffer in the April term after pleading guilty to the charge in Justice Court before Justice Emil Giegling some time before his Circuit Court appearance. Judge Shaffer entered a not guilty plea for the defendant and ordered him to the T. reverse City Hospital for a mental examination. He was adjudged sane by specialists there following an examination.

Several bills to quiet title and divorce action were heard in the court on Monday. In two of the divorce actions, Judge Shaffer invoked the new amendment to the divorce law which went into effect Monday. This amendment allows the judge, in cases where children under 17 years of age are involved, to grant the divorce but to withhold the final decree for a six months period. Judge Shaffer took this action in both cases which were among the first so handled in the state.

Announce EMTA Annual Meeting

The formal Business Section will start at 2:30 P. M., and will be held at the Bay County Building Board of Supervisors room with EMTA President William Schill presiding and the Annual Banquet, 8:30 P. M. October 23, Wenonah Hotel Ball Room.

Dr. and Mrs. R. A. VanVleet and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meyers spent a week on Drummond Island.

Grayling PTA Presents Radio Star Show Twice Today

Advance Ticket Sale Said To Be Brisk

The Knapp family, radio entertainers from the Lansing radio station WKAR, are to perform at the Grayling High School Auditorium this afternoon at 1:15 P. M. at a student matinee, and again this evening at 8 P. M. for the public of Grayling for the benefit of the Grayling PTA.

The Knapp family, which includes, Eldon, Henry, Marie and Arlene, presents a new and different show with singing, playing, musical washboard and saw as well as trick fiddling, harmony and comedy songs.

Officers of the Grayling PTA today were profuse in their thanks to the local folks for buying their tickets during the advance sale as one-half of the purchase of admission went to the local group, while they receive only 40 per cent of the gate paid admissions. They also added that reserved seats were not being sold for this performance. The first come will get the pick of seats, they said.

Funds derived from the sale of tickets to the show will go into the PTA treasury and will be used to bolster and finance several projects that the organization has planned, some of which as the Band instrument and uniform fund has already begun. Officers of the Grayling PTA are looking for a large turnout to the show

Two Pay Fines In Justice Court

Martha Howorth of Royal Oak paid a fine of $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a charge of fishing for trout and having one fish in her possession. She was assessed the fines by Justice Van Smith.

Raymond Stark of Midland was fined $15 and costs by Justice Emil Giegling after pleading guilty to hunting deer with a bow and arrow from a car. He was apprehended with an arrow notched in his bow, riding in a car with the deer open and the bow ready to shoot. He was arrested by Conservation Officers about one-half mile south of the Game Refuge in Beaver Creek Township.

Maple Forest

We have electricity! Most of the farms are wired?

Mrs. Sophia Foresburg of Duluth, Minn., is here visiting her father, Hemming Peterson, and sisters, Miss Martha Peterson and Mrs. Robert Feldhauser.

The party for the young folks at the Town Hall last Friday evening was lots of fun for all. Most of the evening was spent teaching the young people to dance. They are clamoring for another such party soon.

Mrs. Charles E. Owen, Jr., was a patient at Mercy Hospital last week.

The Henry Smiths have purchased the Henry Beerss farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Woodburn left Saturday for Ithaca to spend the week end with their daughter, Mrs. R. Mick. Other relatives came there Sunday to help celebrate the birthday of their grandson, Bill Mick.

Henry Beerss is having an auction sale Saturday. They plan on moving to Gaylord.

Arthur Howse and a party of friends left Tuesday to go bird hunting near St. Johns.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson and children of Mt. Pleasant spent the week end visiting relatives here.

Timberlands President Laid To Rest

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Earl Crawford, President of Timberlands, Incorporated. Burial was at Cambridge City, Indiana. Mr. Crawford was a native of Connersville, Indiana and besides being President of Timberlands was also President of the Fayette Bank and Trust Company of Connersville.

Death came suddenly Friday afternoon after Mr. Crawford had been ill but two days. Timberlands is an Indiana Corporation that owns a huge tract of land east of Grayling on M-72. Clare Madson is the resident manager for the company.

Park's Slides, Rink Offered

The Parks Division of the Michigan State Conservation Department has informed the Grayling Chamber of Commerce through John Peterson that the Conservation Commission reviewed the problems of the Grayling Winter Recreation Area in its last session and offered several suggestions.

One of the suggestions the Chamber of Commerce is studying with a hope of finding a solution to the continued operation of the winter playground. The State has offered to operate the present ski tows with a possible addition of two more, the ski and snowshoe rental and the food concession though possibly the latter will be offered to private lease. As for the slides, the State absolutely will not operate them or the skating rink. They also announced that there would be no admittance charge at the park under the before-mentioned plans. Therefore the Grayling Chamber of Commerce now hopes to locate an individual, individuals or an organization to operate the rink and at least two slides and then propose to the Department that the individual or group be given a year's lease of operation as an experiment.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Two speakers were on the program at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling held in the basement of the Michelson Memorial Church Monday evening.

Miss Thelma Carter, field representative of the American Red Cross was introduced to the club by Mrs. C. C. Clippert, Crawford County chairman of the Red Cross. Miss Carter talked to the club about the organization of the Red Cross and their disaster and relief programs.

Archie Millard of Grand Rapids main speaker on the program was introduced by Fred Welsh, Jr., who was in charge of the program. Mr. Millard, a member of the Michigan Tax Equality Commission spoke on co-operatives. He discussed at length the huge advantage that co-operatives have over the normal kind of business or manufacturing in the line of taxation. Although the speaker declared he had nothing whatsoever against co-operatives as to their methods of doing business or the way that they are organized, he did feel that the average American business man was not getting an even break with the co-operatives who each year do millions of dollars worth of business, all of which is tax exempt.

A round table discussion followed on the subject with many various phases of the question being delved into and explored. Guests at the meeting included W. Edwards Myers and Mr. Savage of Grand Rapids who accompanied Mr. Millard here.

MELICHAR-KEWAY VOWS SPOKEN

Anita Phyllis Melichar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melichar, became the bride of Phillip Herbert Keway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keway, at Cedar, Michigan, Saturday, October 4, at 4 o'clock. Justice of the Peace Anderson officiated at the single ring ceremony. The rites were witnessed by members of the immediate family.

The bride chose a grey skirt and white lace trimmed blouse and black accessories for the wedding. Her corsage was of red roses. Mrs. Delmar Streff, sister of the bride, as attendant, wore a pink street length dress, black accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mr. Streff served as best man.

A wedding supper was given for seventeen guests at 6 o'clock by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Heustis of Cadillac. A three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, and ice cream were served.

Out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melichar, son Gerald, and daughter, Barbara, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Braden of Traverse City. Both young people attended Grayling High School. Mr. Keway is employed by his father as a carpenter but will leave in the spring to join the Detroit Tiger Baseball Team. They are at home to their friends at the Bolinger Motel.

Ceiling Projector To Be Demonstrated

There is to be a demonstration of the Ceiling Projector, donated to the library by the Lion's Club, on Monday evening at the Library. Open house will be held from 7:30 to 8:30. All are welcome to attend. It was especially requested that a representative of each of the Grayling Clubs be there.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd L. Taylor announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Ellen Bell to LeRoy Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Leslie. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wardell of Lansing announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce, to William O. Sorenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sorenson of Grayling. They plan a January wedding.

Green Wave Downs Gaylord

Grayling Scores Held Down By Penalties

Playing the best football so far this year, both offensively and defensively, the Grayling Green Wave trounced a blue and gold eleven from Gaylord by a 12 to 7 score which but for penalties would have been much more decisive.

Two pass plays scored for Grayling in the first half while Gaylord finally punched over for their touchdown on a running play in the final minutes of the game after a battling reserve Green Wave forward wall had all but stopped the northerner's goalward drive.

The running of Jerry Smock plus his and Chuck Feldhauser's passing spell defeat for Gaylord as Feldhauser's first quarter aerial traveled 15 yards to waiting end Dick Miller who scored. In the second frame Smock hit Feldhauser with a nice pass that was good for 30 yards and the second score. Both of Bielski's attempted place kicks failed. One was blocked, the other was a scant yard or two wide.

Gaylord's score came on an off tackle drive by McKillop who seemed to be about the only back that could consistently gain against Grayling. He also scored the point after touchdown on a similar play.

Penalties cost Grayling at least three other touchdowns and as the game ended the Green Wave seemed to be on the march for another. A 25 yard touchdown run by Smock was called back on an offside penalty while a beautifully executed pass to Cliff Papendick that was good for 50 yards to the Gaylord 2, was recalled when a Grayling backfield man was in motion on the play. At another time Grayling drove down to the Blue and Gold 9 yard line and a holding penalty pushed them back 15 yards.

Gaylord pulled a successful sleeper pass that was good for 50 yards from their own 40 to Grayling's 10. The locals held Gaylord for downs and then started a march that culminated in the score by Feldhauser.

Jim Douglas, big Grayling tackle was lost to the Wave for the season when he suffered a dislocated shoulder in the final half. Several other Grayling boys were bruised and banged up but should be back in shape to go to Mancelona tomorrow. In all Coach Willard Cornell used 18 men in the Gaylord game with all of them turning in their best performance of the year. Those that saw action were: Ends—Miller, C. Papendick, Bielski and J. Feldhauser; tackles—Douglas, Allison, Krage and Richardson; Guards—Lozon, V. Papendick and Earl Rasmussen; center—Burns and Worden; backfield—C. Feldhauser, Smock, Bob Rasmussen, Parkinson and Trudeau.

Mancelona is expected to be tough this week after absorbing a 46 to 6 pasting by Harbor Springs last week end. Other conference games saw Pellston down East Jordan, 19 to 0 and Charlevoix trip Boyne City by the same count.

Following is the conference standings after last week's football battle:

Charlevoix	4	0	1.000
Harbor Springs	3	1	.750
Pellston	3	1	.750
Grayling	2	1	.667
East Jordan	1	3	.250
Gaylord	1	3	.250
Mancelona	1	3	.250
Boyne City	0	3	.000

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Allison and children spent the week end in Poland, Ohio, visiting their respective parents.

At a session of said Court, held at Probate Office in the City of Grayling, in said County, on the 13th day of October, 1947.

Present, Honorable Ray F. Clement, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Clara B. Richards, deceased.

It appearing to the Court that the time for presentation of the claims against said estate should be limited and that a time and place be appointed to receive, examine and adjust all claims and demands against said deceased and before said Court;

It is Ordered, that creditors of said deceased, are required to present their claims to said Court at said Probate Office on or before the 20th day of December, 1947, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, said time and place being hereby appointed for the examination and adjustment of all claims and demands against said deceased.

It is Further Ordered, that publication thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order once in each week for three weeks consecutively, previous to said day of hearing, in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper published and circulated in said County.

Ray F. Clement,
Judge of Probate.

BAND NOTES

The Reed Family Several clarinets and two saxophones make up this indispensable section of the ever-growing Grayling High School Band. These instruments play a major part in the program of the band, for they are among the most difficult to master.

We are fortunate to have a group of hard-working, intelligent students striving always to improve handling these instruments. The clarinets are played by a sextet of girls and one lone male. These are: Christine Sales, Nancy Giegling, Gloria Moore, Nancy Hoelsi, Shirley Souder, Sally Gross and James Kumpula.

Gloria Moore had some experience before coming to Grayling and was a big factor in the development of this section. The other five girls, who were beginners last year, have taken great strides forward through constant practice and hard work.

Jimmy Kumpula, who also plays a saxophone part of the time, switched to the E-Flat clarinet when it was purchased by the school and someone was needed immediately to play it.

The saxophone players are: Wanda Doran and Robert Smith. Wanda and Bob are two of our more experienced players who formed a large part of the foundation upon which the present band is built.

These boys and girls deserve much credit for the wonderful example they have set for the rest of the band.

George Hanson has received his private pilots license.

Sunday, commercial students, Robert Hanson, Bernard Fowler and Clayton McDonnell piloted by Herbert "Bud" McDonnell in the Seabee took an extended tour to study "following the radio beam." The foursome had dinner in Grand Rapids, a malted milk in Toledo, Ohio, and returned home. All commercial students will get the same instruction as they go along.

Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Cook and Roy Trudgeon were passengers aboard the Seabee last Thursday. Dr. Cook flew from here with pilot Bud McDonnell to pick up Mrs. Cook at Marquette and Mr. Trudgeon at Newberry. The return trip took just a little over an hour.

Letters To The Editor

October 15, 1947.

Dear Editor:
I would like to correct some of the information that was included in a letter to the editor from Peter Madson that was published in last week's edition.

Mr. Madson asks why the Conservation Department does not close the Hartwick Pines to hunting and the answer is that 500 acres in the Hartwick Pines Park is closed to hunting or trapping of any kind. The area closed which is marked by a definite line and signs posted every 100 feet entirely around the closed portion includes: Section 9—All of SE 1/4 of SE 1/4 south and east of 40 foot fire line. Section 10—All of S 1/2 of S 1/2 south of the 40 foot fire line and east of M-93. Sec. 15—NE 1/4 and that part of the NW 1/4 north of M-93. Section 16—All of NW 1/4 east of 40 foot fire line.

When people speak of the Pines, it is usually construed to mean that area in which the virgin timber lies. This area includes but 40 acres which is amongst the 500 acres that is closed to hunting. As to special privileges, neither archer or gun hunter receives any special privilege over anyone else or over each other. Both have to comply with the same laws, rules and regulations. It might be a good thing to call to the attention of hunters that the Hanson State Game Refuge borders have remained the same for 15 years or so and has just been rededicated for another 5 year period.

Clarence Roberts.

A&P HELPS KEEP YOUR FOOD BILLS DOWN

NO FOOD STORE HAS MORE LOW PRICES... MORE DAYS A WEEK!

It's highly important to us to keep our customers' food bills down because, after all, that's what keeps them coming back to A&P. And we believe that the best way to do it is not by marking a few items down once or twice a week and other items up the rest of the week, but by featuring low prices on items after item, day after day. That's always been A&P's policy... a policy we're able to follow, even in the face of today's soaring food costs, because we cut operating expenses and profits to the bone and pass our savings on to you. A Union Official Speaks His Mind

"The closed shop, the union shop, or any system of organization that is not entirely free and open will never be wholeheartedly accepted by free-thinking people, for the simple reason that such monstrosities are in defiance of our American way of life. Unfortunately, we have all too many labor leaders who don't give a whoop for sound American doctrine—leaders who can only attain and retain power through the un-American device of the closed or union shop."

That quotation did not come from some spokesman from business. It came from an article by Maurice R. Franks, who is the National Business Agent of the Railroad Yardmasters of North America. And it appeared in a labor magazine, the Railroad Workers Journal.

Any system which makes membership in a union compulsory—and the union shop, which is approved in the Taft-Hartley Act, does that as effectively as the closed shop—will also make for despotism. The officials of such unions need not worry whether they serve their members well or not—the dues come rolling in regardless. The individual member is powerless in the face of abuses.

The voluntary union, on the other hand, must do a good job or lose its members. Mr. Franks cites the Railroad Brotherhoods as an example of unionism sold entirely on merit. There is no closed or union shop on the railroads. Yet the Brotherhoods have 1,300,000 members—while there are only 1,171,000 eligible unionists employed on the railroads today. The reason is that thousands of people have kept their memberships even after retiring or leaving railroad work.

Labor must be free of either union or management coercion. The last Congress took a step in that direction, but more remains to be done.

A straw vote conducted in Grayling by the Detroit Times the first of the week gives Coolidge 146; LaFollette 37 and Davis 13.

Mrs. C. H. Hathaway returned home Friday after a 10 day visit with her brother in Chicago. Mr. Hathaway intends to remain for a while.

Mrs. John Walker and daughter, Miss Hazel, visited at the home of Arnold Burrows, Sunday. On their return home to Cheboygan they were accompanied by Miss Anna Fisher who went to act as bridesmaid at the wedding of a friend.

Meredith Cameron of Detroit visited at his home here over Sunday. On his return to Detroit, Monday, he was accompanied by his sister, Miss Leola and later Mrs. Cameron will join her family in that city to take up their residence. Clare Cameron, who is teaching the Frank Love school will remain in Grayling for the present.

Edmund N. Lozon, formerly of this city but now of Cheboygan announces his marriage to Miss Ida Mae Turner of Gaylord, that took place on July 24, 1924, and which was kept a secret by the young people. The groom is the son of Archie Lozon of Frederic and formerly in partnership with Frank Goblet operated the Burton Hotel and Restaurant. At present he is employed in Cheboygan for the Crowell Publishing Company.

Mrs. Charles Sullivan expects to spend the week end visiting her daughter, Miss Marcella at Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Fletcher and little Audrey Hewitt returned Saturday from a two weeks vacation in Detroit and other places.

Miss Maude Taylor expects to leave Friday night to spend a week in Detroit, expecting also to visit Miss Marcella Sullivan, who is attending State Normal college at Ypsilanti.

Carl England and family are enjoying a new Studebaker as are Herbert J. Smith and wife.

Miss Jennie Ingley has closed her summer cottage at Lake Margrethe for the season and will leave today for Detroit to spend a few day—and Sunday night will leave for Huntington Park, Calif., to spend the winter visiting her brother, William Ingley.

Fall Brings A New Vanguard To Michigan

Editor's Note: This article, clipped from the Sunday, September 28 issue of the Chicago Tribune was sent to us by Mrs. Halford Kittelman. We thought that Grayling folks might like to read it so we have re-printed it. Norma Lee Browning is better known in those parts as Mrs. Russell Ogg of Lake Margrethe.

By Norma Lee Browning
Grayling, Mich. — The faintest trace of color is already peeping out from behind Michigan evergreens, and in another two weeks the great northwoods area will be a flamboyant mural.

Michigan's tourist trade is second only to the automotive industry, and a large percentage of her vacation business is done in the fall when thousands swarm the highways and wilderness trail roads just to look. The combination of crimson hardwoods against the deep background of jackpines, cedars, and firs, with the delicate intermingling of tall white birches presents one of the most spectacular autumn color scenes to be found in the middle west.

One of the favorite drives is the Grayling to Kalkaska road on M-72, where the rolling hills are a solid mass of peach-colored maples framed by Norway-pine green.

North from Darragh on CH-571 is the Kalkaska virgin forest, one of the greatest stands of hardwood in the area with trees rising 50 or 60 feet before branching out. In the fall this forest is a wild riot of color. The Hartwick Pines state park north of Grayling, one of the few large remaining stands of virgin pine in Michigan, is a must for tourists at any season.

For a close-up view of something quite rare in fall scenery, take one of the trail roads along the Manistee or AuSable Rivers where hardwood undergrowth, baby maples and sumac, nestle low in resplendent reds and mahogany at the feet of tall singing pines.

Northern Michigan is dotted with crystal-clear lakes—there are 126 in Kalkaska County alone—and one of the breathtaking sights no tourist should miss is the reflection of fall colors in water. Lake Margrethe, for instance, near the small Danish community of Grayling, is one of the most scenic inland lakes in the midwest. White-rimmed with birches, it becomes a small sea of shimmering gold with the reflection of autumn's yellow.

Torch lake, on the road from Kalkaska to Traverse City, can be glimpsed from a high vantage point, lying low and snug in a wooded bed of green and scarlet. Daytime, of course, is the best to see the various hues in all their brilliancy, and under a canopy of bluest skies with soft fluffy clouds, but one of the unforgettable memories of a Michigan autumn is a lake sunset throwing its mantle of purple over the colorful hills in the distance. The ducks fly over, and night brings the eerie cry of a loon, and this is indeed the time of year when nature comes done up like poetry.

If you should be driving through the Upper Peninsula, don't miss the famous Adam's Trail, near Seney, where the multicolored branches reach out to form a flaming archway over the road.

In many northern cities there are organized "color tours" with guide service, but there are thousands of scenic drives and "look-out" points where tourists can take in the beauty of nature's paint brush from an automobile window. However, for a really memorable experience, nothing can top a canoe trip down the famous AuSable or Manistee River when the season's colors are at their height.

You can put in at Grayling, on the AuSable, for only a two hour trip if you're just passing through, but the longer trips are well worth lingering for. In five to seven days, you can paddle all the way from Grayling to Lake Huron, following the river rim of riotous colors, and acquainting yourself with some of the northwoods wild life. In the deeper Manistee between Grayling and Kalkaska, you can make a 160-mile floating trip in about 10 days, or here again, you can find perfect spots for putting in and taking out on two to eight hour trips. And overnight canoe trip with campfires and wiener roasts are especially popular with autumn tourists. There are many good canoe liveries with guide service in the area.

This country is a sportsman's paradise, and many will want to combine a scenic vacation with fishing; duck season opens Oct. 7; hunting or fishing. Some lakes and organized bear hunts are still open for certain kinds of ready under way.

Announcement

As former owners of the Lone Pine Restaurant and Service Station, we wish to take this opportunity to thank the people of Grayling for their patronage during our ownership. Also we hope you continue your patronage at the Lone Pine and become acquainted with Carroll and Sally Wert, the new owners, whom we wish every possible success in the future.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES McCLUNG.

The Lone Pine Restaurant Will Reopen for Business
Friday, October 17. Service Station is Now Open

Welcome, Mr. and Mrs. Wert

We're glad to have you for neighbors. May you be as successful as possible in your new venture. We also extend our best wishes to the former owners of the Lone Pine Restaurant and Service Station, the McClungs and wish them well in their new business and home.

Goodbye to the Old, Welcome to the New

We dislike saying goodbyes to good friends and neighbors, but, we are happy to welcome new neighbors and associates. May fortune smile favorably on both in their new ventures. The Wert family, we know, will be an addition to the always growing, progressive north end community.

A Fond Farewell — A Welcome Hello

There is no loss without some gain is an old saying and is proved in this situation again. In our little business section, we are losing a friendly neighbor and family, but, we are likewise gaining another. We regret having to say goodbye to the McClungs, we are happy to say welcome to the Werts.

Mystery of the Missing Farms

Yep, the number of farms in America is shrinking (by a quarter-million in the last five years!). What's happened to the missing farms? The land has been taken by other farms, increasing the average size by twenty acres!

Does this growth mean farm-ers no longer a family enterprise? Just the opposite! More families own farms today than ever—only with labor-saving equipment they can handle more land, more work.

That's as it should be. The family farm is a fortress of democracy—where our free, American life is secure. Where every member co-operates and shares the work... living together in temperance and tolerance—temperance that prefers a moderate beverage like beer, and tolerance for a taste that may be different from one's own.

From where I sit, our Family Farms (and they're 96% of all farms) are something that this country can be proud of!

The more progressive a people, the more enlightened they wish to become on matters of health. That is the reason why Michigan doctors of medicine have pioneered in the educational use of radio to convey to the Michigan public the latest information on medical facts and discoveries. The "Tell me, Doctor..." 9-minute daily discourse carried by most of Michigan's local radio stations is your medical doctor's way of keeping Michigan people up to date on all the many developments in the medical world. Make it a point to listen to this instructive health program, daily.

overseas for members of the Armed forces who died during the war outside the continental limits of the United States if next of kin request burial to be made overseas, was announced today by the War Department. The locations were agreed to jointly by the Quartermaster General and the American Battle Monuments Commission.

Temporary United States Military Cemeteries laid out during World War II but which will become permanent cemeteries are: Cambridge, England, 50 miles from London; Margraten, Holland, ten miles west of Aachen, Germany; Hamm, Luxembourg, two and a half miles east of the city of Luxembourg; Henri Chapelle, Belgium, 18 miles northeast of Liege; Neuville-en-Condroz, France, 9 miles southeast of Liege; St. Laurent, France, 20 miles northeast of St. Lo; St. James, France, 33 miles northeast of Rennes; Epinal, France, two and a half miles south of Epinal; St. Avold, France, 23 miles east of Metz; Draguignan, France, 27 miles west of Cannes; Nettuno, Italy, 32 miles south of Rome; and the United States Armed Forces Cemetery at Manila, Philippine Islands.

In addition, Florence, Italy, and Tunis, Tunisia, will be cemetery locations although the exact sites are not yet chosen by the Quartermaster General and the American Battle Monuments Commission. The four new National Cemeteries are to be established under the plans at Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, Gaum, in the Marianas, Juneau, Alaska, and at San Juan, Puerto Rico. These National Cemeteries will provide final resting places for any Armed Forces personnel or honorably discharged veterans who may wish to be buried in Hawaii, Guam, Alaska, or Puerto Rico, in addition to those who died during World War II.

America's dead of World War II rest today in more than 150 Temporary United States Military Cemeteries overseas. Next of kin of the deceased are now being asked by the War Department to state where they desire their loved ones buried. Options open to the next of kin provide for burial of the individual deceased member of the Armed Forces in a private cemetery in the United States, in a National Cemetery in the United States, in a Permanent Military Cemetery overseas or in a cemetery in a foreign country which is the homeland of the deceased or of the next of kin.

Action by Congress will be required before the Permanent Military Cemeteries or the new National Cemeteries may be established. Once the Permanent Military Cemeteries are established they will be cared for by the American Battle Monuments Commission. The Office of the Quartermaster General has supervision only over all National Cemeteries in the United States and abroad. Land for the new cemeteries may be purchased if Congress so SUGGESTS 48-STAR FLAG... G. David Bollinger of Washington, D. C., is shown with his suggested design for the American flag, which, he believes, incorporates the spirit of the motto "E Pluribus Unum." Motivation for the choice was the possible admission of the Territory of Hawaii as the 48th state, which event would necessitate a change in the nation's flag. Bollinger suggests the 48 stars be combined to form one big star. His idea is being considered by Government officials.

Murphy Named As Radcliffe's Successor

James V. Murphy, who has been associated with Greyhound Lines since 1930, and who has been assistant general traffic manager for Central Illinois, Pennsylvania and Northland Greyhound Lines, has been appointed general traffic manager for Great Lakes Greyhound and Eastern Canadian Greyhound Lines.

Mr. Murphy, who succeeds P. L. Radcliffe, who died in September,

Hard of Hearing

Add yet another good mark to the imposing credit side of penicillin and certain other newly discovered drugs.

It has just been announced by some reputable doctors of medicine who have conducted research along this line that they have greatly reduced the number of operations necessitated by the mastoid.

This is an important fight in medicine's preventive war against deafness, for today your doctor is concerned not only with aiding persons having trouble with their hearing, but with warding off such trouble.

Whenever a child suffers from any illness which involves the nose, throat or ears, the doctor of medicine will give special attention to the conservation of hearing.

For persons already having trouble, there have been announced new techniques in lip reading, voice training and psychology help to overcome the sense of frustration and inferiority that handicaps some youngsters suffering hearing defects. In addition, newly developed hearing aids are proving very helpful.

The public little realizes that ten per cent of Americans suffer from this defect. Forty thousand of our service men were rendered deaf during World War Two and in future years many others may have hearing difficulties because of injuries or illness suffered during the war.

"Health News" is presented by your Doctor of Medicine as a health service of the Michigan State Medical Society.

SOLDIER COME HOME

By
Lloyd Zeno Watson

Johnny looked at Kit and saw her blushing. So much had happened in these last few hours that the whole situation wasn't exactly clear to him. To have seen Basil and his family evicted from Martindale was quite a shock and then to be told that he was to be the sole heir of Jennifer Martin and was to make his home here with her, plus the grand surprise that the park was to be finished immediately at the foot of Martindale where his mother had planned it . . . all of this together was too much and he wondered if he would not awaken suddenly and find he had only been dreaming. He looked at Kit and smiled. Basil had said she had broken their engagement day before yesterday in a note she had sent him. And just what did that mean? Did it mean that at last he had a chance with her? He drew a deep breath.

"I'll tell you better in a few hours, Jenny. Kit, there's a certain place I'd like to show you. It's down at the park site. Do you think maybe you'd like to see it?" He took her hand and looked at her, smiling.

"Yes, I think I would right about now, Johnny," she answered and winked at Jennifer Martin as they left the room.

Walking down to their own little place on the park site, they were silent until they reached the ravine and then Johnny stopped and taking her hand, turned her toward him.

"Let's stop wasting time, Kit. We've done too much of that so far, haven't we?" he asked softly.

"She looked at him, coming closer to him. 'Johnny, dear, dear Johnny. Why didn't you tell me I was in love with you, darling?'"

He looked at her as if he were memorizing every feature of her lovely face. He touched her cheek with his hand and smoothed her soft hair back from her face. In the moonlight he could see her plainly and he thought that always he must remember how she had looked this night.

"It was better that you found out yourself, my darling," he answered her finally.

He took her in his arms then and held her for a long time close against him. He felt her heart beating against his own and knew that always they would beat for each other, now forever.

"It's so funny, Johnny," she whispered against his shoulder. "This that I feel for you. It's not what I thought love was at all. I thought that love was security and a settled kind of feeling about everything . . . and now I know what it really means."

Plans for Martindale's Future

"Tell me, beloved," He held his cheek against hers.

"It's . . . well, it's not security and yet it's a fine feeling inside you that no matter what happens everything will be all right as long as I'm with you, darling. It's a madness of passion and a calmness of spirit that only comes to someone perfectly contented — someone in love. And then it's dangerous as a raging sea and as safe as our little cove here in the park site. It's everything that was ever wonderful . . . oh, Johnny, I love you so, darling."

"Oh, Kit, why did you wait? Why didn't you tell me then, when you knew?" he asked quickly.

"I couldn't then, Johnny. Not with J. D. and all that. . . It was when he called me back at the hospital, I think, that I knew for the first time. I saw how much he loved you, mother and I thought of Basil, and when . . . it wasn't the same thing. And I knew what your father and mother had for each other was true and fine and . . . lasting. Then I knew I was wrong about Baz. Oh, Johnny, let's never talk about it again. It was too close."

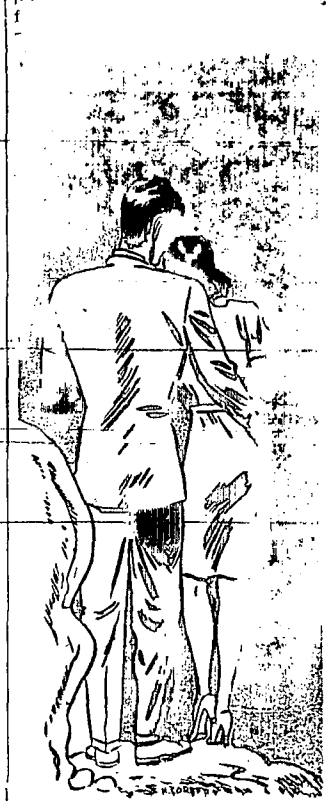

He held her face between his hands and kissed her. It was a kiss of promise and love and passion. It was all the things that he wanted to say to her and couldn't find the words for.

They walked on toward the cove they called their own finally, and

Elms Take Honors In Tree Contest

Michigan's "big tree" population seems to run largely to American Elms. In fact, the first three winners in the Michigan State College sponsored big tree contest are American Elms.

Grand daddy of all trees in Michigan appears to be the tree located three-fourths of a mile north and two and one-fourth once in a while they looked toward Martindale and smiled to each other. They found their favorite rock and Johnny sat with Kit in his arms close against him. The moon was high in the sky and looked down at them from its bed of clouds.

It was Monday morning, the start of a new week . . . a new life.

Kit looked once toward Martindale and smiled.

"Jenny's counting on me, you know. I can't let her down, Kit." He smiled at her, reading her thoughts.

"Oh, it will be such fun doing over the east wing the way we want it, Johnny." She clasped her hands together.

"But I thought you and Basil planned it. Whatever you liked will be all right with me, you know that."

Linda Park Is Finally Started

"No, I didn't plan it—Cecilia and Basil were the ones. Let's have a fireplace in the east wall of the study, shall we, Johnny?" She moved away from him suddenly and put her hand to her lips. "Why, you've never even asked me to marry you yet!"

"I think Rev. Thomas gets up in about four hours. I don't like to rush things . . . but!" He smiled and kissed her fingers one by one.

"That's time enough to make the evening edition of the Clarion, isn't it?" She laughingly accepted.

They sat together on the rock and watched the moon disappear and the first rays of the morning sun pour over Brown's Hill. So enraptured with each other were they that they did not notice the hours that had gone by. Suddenly each of them remembered it was Monday morning, the start of a new week . . . a new life . . . and soon a new marriage and happiness.

They did not notice the workmen until they came quite close to them; but the men did not see them and passed by them to the northern end of the field, where they started work.

Kit saw Johnny's eyes grow misty as he watched them. She pressed his hand, feeling an equal amount of happiness at the starting of Linda Park, as they had decided to name it so long ago.

"I always wanted to be right here when they started building again . . . and have Dad here with me." He looked at Kit and held her closer. "Instead . . . I'm here with the loveliest girl in the world and somewhere . . . somehow . . . I think he's standing with his Linda and they are as happy as we are, Kit darling."

at breast height and is estimated to be possibly 200 years old. The tree was reported by Clifford Walters of Battle Creek on June 27. Mr. Walters is official winner of the contest. Also reporting the tree on July 14 was Ernest Rose, RFD 4, Battle Creek, on whose property the tree stands.

The prize for reporting the tree, a half-gallon of maple syrup will be presented to Mr. Walters by Paul Herbert, head of the Michigan State College forestry department.

Second place tree, also an American Elm, is located one mile west and one-quarter mile south of Volinia in Cass County. It is 20 feet nine inches in circumference.

An American Elm 20 feet in circumference took third place. It is located on the Max Smith farm and one-half mile north and west of Lawrence in Van Buren County.

In all, there were 65 trees reported by more than 2000 people. Very large tree was reported more than once. Six persons reported the same pine tree at Hartwick Pines near Grayling. However, it was not a prize winner.

WINS RECOGNITION

IN MATHEMATICS FIELD

Friends of Miss Margaret Joseph will be pleased to learn that she has been appointed head of the math department of Shorewood High School, Milwaukee, Wis. Along with her duties as head of the department she was to take over responsibility of the math board. Miss Joseph who is also secretary of the State Mathematics Association is one of the authors of "The New Trend in Geometry" a text book which is used in Shorewood High School. It was copyrighted in 1940 by the Charles E. Merrill Co. She also designed the "Perspectograph" a template used by solid geometry classes. The Perspectograph helped students with drawings.

Miss Joseph will be remembered as a teacher in the Grayling schools.
